

Bay Shore United Methodist Church

THE SPIRE

The Rev. Dr. Sungmu Lee

March 2014

Christians have gathered together to worship God on Sunday for a long time. Every Sunday Christians get up early in the morning, go to church, sing hymns, pray to God, listen to the sermon of a pastor, receive the Lord's Supper, and share joys and concerns with their brothers and sisters in Christ Jesus. In the past, without Sunday observance one may not have been identified as a Christian.

However, the harmonious relationship between Christians and Sunday observance is in trouble. Many churches in North America, especially the so called mainline Protestant churches, have experienced a decline in the number of attending members during their Sunday worship services. Consequently, some of the churches have closed their doors. Recognizing this crisis, each Protestant denomination has tried to regain its good relationship with Sunday.

For instance, each United Methodist Church is supposed to report its attendance average on Sunday worship to its annual Conference, and the Church is awarded when it increases the attendance for Sunday services. In spite of these efforts in each Protestant denomination, it does not seem that modern Protestants will soon recover their relationship with Sunday.

Why? In the past, Christians had to come to church because many of them believed that if not, something bad might happen to them. When I was a teenager, I listened to that kind of sermon. Yet, modern Christians know that nothing tragic will happen even if they do not go to church. In this situation, I would like to reconsider what wisdom Christian ancestors handed down, focusing on the celebration of resurrection on Sunday.

The relationship between Sunday and the resurrection is initially found in the Gospel narratives, each of which describes the day of Jesus' resurrection as "the first day of the week." The day when the Lord was resurrected must always be a day of joy, thanksgiving, and victory. For example, in the early Christian Church, fasting and the penitential observance of kneeling in prayer were most strictly forbidden on Sunday. (The penitential mood was added later in the Sunday worship of the Medieval Church, and we still find that feature from the Catholic Church.)

In the Early Church, the mood of Sunday was very different from that of the Sabbath (from Friday evening to Saturday evening), even though many of them were influenced by Jewish traditions. If the Sabbath was forcefully kept according to the law in the Old Testament, then the day of Jesus' resurrection (Sunday) was willingly and joyfully celebrated by the early Christians.

Why do you come to church on Sunday? The answer of Protestants should not be "It is because I have to" but "It is because I want to." The motto of the sixteenth-century Reformation was "Let us go back to the Early Church!" I imagine that the early Christians actively and joyfully celebrated the Lord's day. Nobody told them to observe Sunday, but they willingly celebrated the Lord on the first day of the week.

We modern Protestants have great ancestors who handed down the legacies of Sunday celebration and theology. However, the Protestant Church has missed some valuable instructions from their ancestors, although the church has inherited and practiced many parts of that wisdom from them. Now, it is time to reconsider the wisdom of Christian ancestors, utilize it, develop our own unique Sunday practice, and finally recover the harmonious relationship between Christians and Sunday observance.

Lent begins on Ash Wednesday (March 5th). Let us come to worship and experience God in Jesus Christ, who died on the cross and saved us from sins. Amen.

LENTEN WEDNESDAY EVENING SERVICES

During Lent our congregation worships with other Bay Shore Churches every Wednesday evening at 8 PM. Before each Wednesday evening service the hosting church provides a Soup & Sandwich Supper at 7:15 PM. Those of us who have attended these have found the fellowship rewarding and the reverence of the service in neighboring churches uplifting. Won't you join our congregation during Lent and travel to our neighboring churches to worship as we prepare for Easter? Watch for the schedule of the Wednesday Soup & Sandwich Services in the Sunday Bulletin.

Our Church will be hosting on April 9th. Please help us host this event by signing up to bring soup or sandwiches for the supper. A sign-up sheet will be in the Fellowship Hall.

NEWS FROM OUR DAY CARE & PRESCHOOL

Our Day Care and Preschool Center has been steadily growing! We recently installed new carpeting in the two front rooms in order to prepare additional space for the children. We are looking to purchase tables, chairs, and other furniture to use in these new rooms, however we do not have adequate funding at this time. We would also like to add computers in the center for the children to use. Donations of used computers would be greatly appreciated! Please contact Amy Bowman our Director if you have any donations for the center, 631-647-4326.
